Bethel native honors those who put his feet on the path to success

Dr. William O'Brien donates $50,000 to Project Opportunity

By ALISON ALOISIO

Dr. William O'Brien's childhood was not an easy one. His parents were, in his words, "refugees from the poverty of rural Ireland." His mother worked as a laundress at the Bethel Inn 50 years ago, while his father was a porter and bellhop at the inn. And Dr. O'Brien, by his own account, "had great trouble learning to read" in elementary school.

But eventually -- with the patient help of his teachers at the Ethel Bisbee School -- O'Brien did master reading. He went on to graduate from Gould Academy in 1943, and eventually became a doctor and professor of medicine at the University of Virginia.

Now, O'Brien is remembering his parents, Patrick and Mabel Kelly O'Brien, and the teachers who helped him along the way through generous contributions to Telstar High School's Project Opportunity Scholarship Fund. To date, he has donated $50,000 to help Telstar grads further their education.

In letters accompanying the two contributions he has made in the past year, O'Brien wrote, "Sixty-two years ago, in September of 1936, I began the first grade with Ethel Bisbee as my teacher (there were no kindergartens then). She was followed by Maxine Clough, Mrs. Tucker, Alice Ballard, Mrs. Walcott, Mrs. Clements, and for both the seventh and eighth grades by Gwendolyn Stearns. After four years at Gould, which was then the public high school for Bethel, I left to study over the next 16 years at the University of Maine, Tufts University, Yale University School of Medicine, Harvard Medical School, the University of Manchester (in England), and the University of North Carolina. None of the huge number of those who taught me from the ages of 13 to 33 had as much effect or left lasting memories of those first seven ladies.

"I was left-handed, and had left-right confusion and mirror reading and writing. Although my teachers worked with me patiently, I never read properly until the fifth grade. Mrs. Walcott gently helped me through my first book, 'Treasure Island,' which may have been the most important milestone in my education."

Bethel sewer rates will increase

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel sewer users will soon see their bills go up.

The town selectmen Monday approved a two-year budget for the wastewater treatment plant that calls for a 37.5 percent increase in fees to users.

The increase will be phased in, with 21 percent showing up in the three quarterly bills remaining in the current billing year. An additional 9.5 percent increase will appear in July 1999, and a final 7 percent in July 2000.

When the full increase is in effect, it will add something over $100 to the average household's annual sewer bill.

The selectmen expressed concern over the impact of the increase, but indicated that they saw no alternative.

"It looks to me like that's a hell of an increase," said Don Bennett, "but we're between a rock and a hard place."

Other selectmen echoed Bennett's feelings.

Acting chairman Reggie Brown (board chairman Dutch Dresser did not attend Monday's meeting) noted that there were probably places where some cuts could be

'Too fast' sign coming to Woodstock

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Bethel area has so far been spared stop lights, but the little village of Bryant Pond will soon boast a sign usually reserved for interstates -- "Speed too fast when flashing."

Town selectmen learned Tuesday that the state will set up such a sign to caution hasty motorists headed south through the village.

The Maine Department of Transportation plans to install a sensor in the road near Breaux II, which will activate the warning light if a vehicle is speeding, according to Vern Maxfield, Woodstock town manager.

The curve has been the scene of several tractor-trailer rollovers in recent years. No sensor is planned for the northbound lane, Maxfield said, and he has not yet received an explanation for that decision.

The flashing yellow light that currently hangs over the intersection will also be replaced by one with flashing arrows indicating the direction the curve takes, going north and south.

The work is expected to be put out to bid Oct. 28.

In other business at Tuesday's meeting, selectman Steve Bies

THERE WAS LITTLE FIREFIGHTERS COULD DO to save a small camper that burned to the ground Wednesday morning off the Bird Hill Road in Woodstock. No one lived in the camper, but it was used some nights by Nicholas and Danny Smith, the sons of Amy Smith, whose home is only 30 feet from the camper. The fire was discovered shortly after 9:30 by Joan Roberts, a neighbor who was passing by. Roberts stopped at the nearby home of Smith's parents, Roy and Lois Day, and Roberts and Mrs. Day attempted to contain the fire with buckets of water and a hose until firefighters arrived. By that point, however, flames were almost 300 feet high, according to Roy Day, and there was nothing that could be done to save the small structure.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST YOUTH

To the Editor:

Recently, a friend and I visited many stores in the town of Bethel, shopping for a friend's birthday gifts. We were appalled by the way we were treated. We were followed, stared at, and viewed suspiciously by many store employees.

We are good kids and we do not understand what we have done to deserve such treatment. We realize that many teens cause problems, but we are not of that nature. We were not being loud or obnoxious, and, of course, we were not shoplifting.

We find it unfair that just because we are teenagers, we are viewed as criminals. At one store we were followed and glared at until my friend's mother arrived, and then after seeing that we were with an adult, we were treated with respect.

We feel we were discriminated against because of our age, and that is no different than discrimination because of race, religion, sex, etc.

Hopefully, after reading this, you will realize that not all teens are troublemakers. We are contributing members of the community and our school and feel we should be treated as such.

GRANDPARENTS' DAY THANKS

To the Editor:

On Friday, Oct. 2, the Crescent Park Elementary School held Grandparents' Day.

I cannot tell you how special they made us feel. They thought of everything from a beautiful carnation flower when we walked in the door, to a wonderful lunch in the cafeteria, also a pin with the Crescent Park logo on it, and a sticker for my car window claiming to be a proud Crescent Park Grandparent, of which I certainly am.

I would like to thank Mr. Murphy, Mrs. Smith and all the staff at the Crescent Park School for giving me a chance to see Emily in school. I also commend you for the wonderful curriculum that you have for the children.

Grandparents' Day is a wonderful memory that will forever be in my heart. Thank you again.

I would be remiss if I failed to mention the wonderful fifth-graders who guided us around the school and waited on us in the cafeteria. They were all super!

HARVEST FEST THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Bethel Rotary Club, I would like to extend sincere thanks to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce for allowing our club to participate in the first annual Bethel Harvest Fest.

We would also like to thank all of the area restaurants and inns who made some very tasty "chowdahs" for the Chowder Tasting Contest -- Bethel Inn, Brea's, Cafe DiCocoa, Jordan Grand Hotel, The Loft, Maine Country Market, Sudbury Inn, Sunday River Brewing Company, Tut's, and The Victoria. All of the proceeds from the Chowder Tasting Contest will be used to support our Christmas for Children Fund.

We were able to raise over $700 toward this year's goal of $8,000. Over 100 children in our community will benefit this year at Christmas due to the kind support from the people in our community, local businesses and visitors to our area.

Once again, thanks to everyone and congratulations to The Bethel Inn for being voted as having the tastiest chowder.

Kevin Finley
President, Bethel Rotary Club

INN'S NEW WING DEDICATED--Maine Gov. Angus King came to town Tuesday to help dedicate the Bethel Inn's new 16-room, $1.3-million Chapman Wing. Named in honor of the late Ida Cecilia Chapman, who worked at the inn for almost 40 years. King spoke of the importance of individuals such as Chapman to the hospitality industry and the economy that depends on it. Chapman's son Howard recalled the bad times at the inn, before its purchase by Dick Raso, and subsequent revival. Here King (left of the easel) unveils a portrait of Chapman by Sabattus artist Al Tomilson. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

MULTIPLE-USE WORKS

To the Editor:

The regular folks here in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont know all about pride, but pride is not watching your children working in low-paying service-sector jobs or them moving away to find employment. Mr. Carle's letter in The Citizen should be a warning to one and all that once again a vocal minority is trying to dictate to residents the direction that their livelihoods and recreation should take.

The timber industry, again, is the central target of these extremists with their claims of mismanagement, widespread damage to the ecosystem and its minimal value to the local economy.

According to these people, the wonderful service-sector jobs that will be created by a national park will more than adequately replace the few meaningless jobs lost by the logging industry. Mr. Carle fails to acknowledge that there are a substantial number of healthcare, engineering, and management jobs that already exist and continue to expand in conjunction with a multiple-use forest. It would be refreshing if just one of these preservationists would take the time and make the effort to see how interwoven the timber industry is in every aspect of the health of the North Country's economy. It's really not just a few slope foreheads Neanderthals running amok knocking down trees and filling the streams full of mud that will become unemployed. It would be difficult to name many businesses that are not impacted in some way by the timber industry.

There is a myriad of people living in the tri-state region whose economic well being is directly tied to the health of the timber industry.

The timber industry has an impressive track record of advances technologically, environmentally, and in workplace safety.

At a time when northern New England continues to lose manufacturing jobs that pay good wages only to be replaced for the largest percentage by low-paying service sector jobs, it seems shortsighted to limit even further the ability of the timber industry to contribute to the economy. Citizens of northern New England know the value of wood as a value added and export commodity, and that we are fortunate to have such a renewable resource at our disposal.

Mr. Carle's letter does bring to light one interesting economic opportunity that I had never envisioned, law firms as both an export commodity and I suspect a renewable resource.

The idea that a vocal minority of environmental extremists whose myopic vision for the White Mountain National Forest could come to pass if we sit silently by is a frightening thought. Their claim that the Forest Service receives substantial subsidies to operate may be true, but logging certainly paves the way and makes possible the hundreds of miles of roads that are available to outdoor enthusiasts of all persuasions, including preservationists. An estimated $1.3 million is but a drop in the bucket compared to the billions squandered by our government on far less worthy and productive endeavors. And just as an aside, how many government agencies produce even a small percentage of their operating expense? So, if some of your and my tax dollars come back to us in the form of support for a forest that "all" of us can benefit from, I am for it.

The multiple-use concept that is now in practice appears to be serving all users of the White Mountain National Forest in a fair and well-managed way.

You may be thinking that the acreage involved if taken out of timber production is insignificant compared to the vast amount of forest in the tri-state region, but this is just one step in a long-range plan to dictate to all land owners, large and small, how they will manage their land. The preservationists envision a vast swath of forest under their sway from upstate New York through Vermont, New Hampshire and into Maine. The prospect that these extremists could be given the power to dictate the way our forest, both public and private, is used should be an anathema to everyone who logs, hunts, hikes, bikes, fishes, skis, snowmobiles, birdwatches, camps, snowshoes, or flies a kite.

Mr. Carle and his ilk have an unerring willingness to deprive other individuals of their livelihood, but lack the conviction to give up the benefits of modern society to further their preservationist goals.

State Planning Office Soup Kitchen

By MIKE BROWN

There are many observers of Maine's political scene, probably Republican weighted, who believe the state would be better off blowing away the State Planning Office.

Firstly, it might save some $6 million it costs to run the outfit. But then maybe not because the bureaucracy picking up SPO's field crops would charge for the harvesting. For instance, the SPO was born in 1968 as a stepchild of the Department of Economic Development. Today, DEC (Community) D's all-funds fiscal year budget is over $26 million. DEC'd's adopting of SPO would probably add another $6 million to its coffers. It's called overhead, the biggest rip-off in bureaucratic capitalism.

The real problem with SPO is that it's not only a part of the Executive Department, it's the governor's private partisan advertising agency. And as such it reflects and hypes the governor's personal programs, ideas and ego -- and not necessarily what's good for the state.

In fact, the SPO's mission is clearly stated "as responding to the needs of the governor in a variety of policy and program areas" and "to meet in a timely fashion the requests of the governor."

How about them apples for partisan political sauce.

It's clear that the so-called "facts and figures" polulating out of the SPO office are cooked to the political and policy flavor of an incumbent governor. Essentially, the SPO exists through executive colored crayons to annually draw a happy face on Maine no matter the economic scowls in the hushings.

Recently released data of the U.S. Census Bureau indicated that Maine's median household income decreased while the rest of the country increased. "How can that be?" responded an SPO economist, who said the SPO's "measures of economic growth" indicated that that category of income has been steadily increasing.

Is the SPO dipping the economic chicken cube in the soup kettle again?

Census says the median income of households in Maine went down $1,443 from a two-year average of $35,575 in 1995-96 to $34,132 in 1996-97. The SPO uses Clinton-ese hair-splitting language to argue why the decrease isn't so. And besides, says SPO, the U.S. Dept. of Commerce agrees with we SPO econo-chefs that Maine folks are better off than they think.

Okay, let's review some other published analysis on Maine by Commerce:

In 1996, Maine's total personal income was $26 million, the 41st in the nation. The growth in personal income 1995-96 was 4.6 percent, 40th in the nation. The personal per capita income in 1996 was $21,011, 36th in the nation. The growth in per capita personal income in 1995-96 was 4.2 percent, 31st in the nation. The projected per capita personal income in 2005 is $17,032, the 34th in the country.

And what does the U.S. Bureau of Census really say about Maine's median household income in 1996? At the 28th lowest in the United States -- $33,883.

And an array of tax stats, no matter how they are cooked by SPO, clearly and abundantly show that Maine is one of the more heavily taxed states in the nation.

And yet over the past four years the governor and legislators have been increasing taxes on Maine folks at a rate of a quarter billion dollars a biennial session. The projected fiscal year 2000-2001 general fund biennial budget is now $4,409,913,252 -- up nearly 4 percent -- and counting.

And yet, Maine voters are apparently status quo satisfied with their tax and spend government -- and dismal income -- status and seem willing to return the same persons and economic policies to the political offices they now hold.

The State Planning Office soup kitchen is open for business.

Tornado blows through Paris

PARIS--A tornado packing 105-mile-per-hour winds touched down in the town of Paris during a thunderstorm last Thursday, according to the National Weather Service. Officials surveyed the damage and determined that a tornado hit at about 9:30 a.m. Thursday, three miles northeast of South Paris, near King Hill Road and Streaked Mountain Road. The tornado was about a half-mile long and 150 yards wide. The weather service's determination that it was a tornado was based on the direction that trees and debris flew. "It is somewhat scattered looking, but there is a pattern," said John Jensenius, a NWS meteorologist. The twister destroyed a garage and damaged a barn. One resident reported that the trampoline in his back yard was picked up like a Frisbee and thrown over power lines and into a wooded area 50 yards away.

WMNF acquires more land

GORHAM, N.H.--The White Mountain National Forest has acquired 2,154 acres of forested land west of Lake Tarleton in Grafton County. The second phase of Lake Tarleton land purchase was completed Sept. 30, bringing land acquisition efforts to a total of 3,434 acres around lake in the past year.

More any-deer permits issued

AUGUSTA--The Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife has awarded 43,826 any-deer hunting permits for this year's season. Last year the agency gave out 41,976 permits. The hunting is "going to be better in the south than in the north," Gerald Lavigne, deer biologist for the department, said Friday. "Overall, we're looking for about 32,000 deer to be taken statewide." During the regular firearms and muzzle-loading seasons, only hunters with any-deer permits can take does and bucks with antlers less than three inches long. The hunters also can shoot mature bucks. Firearm season runs Nov. 2 to 28, although a residents-only day is set for Oct. 31. Muzzle-loader season begins Nov. 30 and runs until Dec. 5 or 12, depending on the district. Over the last 15 years, the deer population in Maine has increased from 160,000 to 255,000, Lavigne said.

Judge upholds Tahoe 'jet ski' ban

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.--A federal judge ruled in favor of Lake Tahoe environmentalists Friday by upholding an ordinance banning the two-cycle engines used to power "Jet Skis" and other personal watercraft. U.S. District Judge Frank C. Damrell Jr. dismissed the allegations of the watercraft enthusiasts and engine manufacturers, who said the ordinance was flawed and violated their right to do business. There was no immediate indication of whether they would appeal Damrell's decision, or file new complaints. The crux of the case is a fiercely contested rule adopted last year by the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency, the two-state federal body charged with enforcing environmental rules at the azure Sierra, Nev., lake. The ordinance seeks to halt the flow of unburned fuel and oil -- and related pollutants, including the gasoline compound MTBE -- into the lake from two-cycle engines. Experts at TRPA, as well as the League of Save Lake Tahoe, complained that the engines pour significant amounts of raw gasoline into the water. Jim Baetge, executive director of TRPA, said he considered Damrell's decision "almost a total victory." "We will have that ordinance in June 1999," Baetge added. "The effect of unburned fuel into the lake is one of our major issues. This lake is a national treasure." The lawsuit was filed by the National Marine Manufacturers Association, the Personal Watercraft Industry Association, the Lake Tahoe Watercraft Recreation Association and several other watercraft rental firms and residents. The 18-part suit said TRPA's phaseout of two-stroke engines by 1999 is unfounded and unfairly singles out engines. Baetge said the ordinance is still being "refined and fine-tuned." TRPA staffers intend to propose the revised rule to the board in December. The revised statute will focus on emission standards rather than specific engine types. Officials have said a regulation on emissions will be easier to support scientifically and would be easier to enforce.

Jet sliced cable lift to reopen

ROME--The Alpine ski lift whose cable was sliced by a U.S. Marine jet in February, sending 20 people to their deaths, will reopen by Christmas. Officials from the northern Italian area of Trento said Saturday the cable line and gondolas had been completely rebuilt and would be taking skiers up Mount Cermis. The exact opening date depends on when the first snow of the season falls. The lift departs from Cavalese, a town in a region whose economy is based primarily on tourism and which suffered a major blow following the Feb. 3 tragedy. Evidence showed the Maine Corps EA-6B Prowler, which took off from a nearby base, was flying too fast and too low when it sliced the cable. A military judge at Camp Lejeune, N.C., on Friday delayed until February the courts-martial of two Marine aviators facing 20 counts of involuntary manslaughter and negligent homicide. Capt. Richard Ashby and Capt. Joseph Schweitzer also face charges of dereliction of duty, destroying military property and destroying civilian property. If convicted of the charges, each Marine could face life in prison. The United States has provided funds to victims' families as well as to the Trento region to help restore tourism.

Tomba bows out

ROME--Alberto Tomba, whose five Olympic medals, off-slope antics and flamboyant ways made him Italy's most famous skier of all times, on Saturday officially called it quits. Tomba, known as "La Bomba," (the bomb) for his explosive skiing style, had hinted at retirement for years, but always burst back on the scene to stun his rivals and savor another victory. Now, 10 years after he captured the hearts of thousands of fans at the Calgary Olympics with double gold medals, his "ciao" is for good.

From the Bethel Police log:

Mechanic Street domestic

On Oct. 2 a complainant reported that at approximately 9:30 a.m. a male subject had become angry at her and struck her in the face with a food blender at a Mechanic Street residence, knocking her unconscious. At 3:27 p.m. the complainant reported the incident to the Sheriff's Office. Two officers checked the in-town area with no results. At 4:18 p.m. an SO officer was flagged by the complainant, who reported the subject was back at her residence. On arrival the subject was walking out of the residence. As he saw the police he returned to the residence. A search released the subject had fled. When the complainant, Kim Day, returned, she was arrested on an outstanding warrant.

Thursday, Oct. 1

At 12:35 a.m. police assisted a state trooper at a Route 35 residence as they removed and arrested Kathy Westleigh for violating her bail conditions. She was taken to the Oxford County Jail and held without bail pending her appearance in court.

At 10:46 a.m. a Main Street business person reported she is having an ongoing problem with students smoking in the bushes behind her building, and that a day earlier several pumpkins were smashed in the parking lot.

Friday, Oct. 2

At 1:05 a.m. a subject was stopped on Lincoln Street for a stop sign violation. He showed signs of intoxication and was given several field sobriety tests. Brian J. Goodrich, 27, of Bethel was arrested for OUI and taken to Oxford County Jail. He refused a breath test, and was given a summons for OUI and failure to stop at a stop sign.

At 10:25 p.m. police responded to a Main Street business for a report of several persons fighting inside. On arrival police were directed to the back parking lot, where three male subjects were detained. One had taken off on foot. According to information obtained on scene the following will be summonsed for assault: Ryan Davis, 20, of Mechanic Falls, Harlan Blake, 28, of Bethel, Todd Davis, 22, of Mechanic Falls. During the investigation of the incident Blake became loud and obnoxious and after being told several times to quiet down he was placed under arrest for disorderly conduct. He was transported to Oxford County Jail for processing.

At 12:50 a.m. a subject was stopped on Mayville Road for swerving and making a wide-radius turn. When stopped, he showed signs of intoxication and was given field sobriety tests. James T. Graham Jr., 59, of Olean, N.Y., was arrested for OUI and taken to the Oxford County Jail, where he was given a breath test, with a result of .09 percent. He was given a summons for OUI, and held in lieu of bail.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

F.B. TRUMAN RUNNING FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Freda Bartlett Truman of Norway has announced her candidacy for Oxford County treasurer and suggested that an increased level of commitment to the position would benefit county taxpayers.

"I am running for treasurer because I believe Oxford County citizens deserve careful and attentive management of their tax dollars," said Bartlett Truman. "The responsibilities of county treasurer are too important to leave to someone whose primary focus is on another job. If elected, I promise to put the necessary time and energy into being treasurer."

A lifelong resident of Norway, Truman has an accounting degree and over 22 years of accounting and management experience. She has served as treasurer for a number of area organizations, including the Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce, Norway-Paris Fish & Game, and the Oxford County Republican Committee. She also has an extensive business background, including serving as a director of Hancock Lumber and as a corporator of Stephens Memorial Hospital.

She and her husband, Leon "Stubby" Truman, have four children and five grandchildren.

COUNTY GOP HIRES COORDINATOR

Oxford County Republican Committee chair Jolene Lovejoy recently announced the hiring of Dave Wilby as campaign coordinator for Oxford County Republicans.

A graduate of Bowdoin College, Wilby is formerly a member of Sen. Bill Cohen's policy staff in Washington and Portland. He has been active in various campaigns around the state. He will be assisting Republican legislative and county candidates.

"We are pleased to add Dave's experience to our campaign efforts," said Lovejoy. "The Republican Party has outstanding candidates in Oxford County, and we are working hard to get out the Republican message of more jobs and less government."

Local jobless rate the lowest in nine years

By ALISON ALOISIO

An August jobless rate of 5.5 percent for the Rumford area -- which includes SAD44 towns -- was the lowest in nine years, according to a Maine Department of Labor spokesman.

Last year's rate was 7.5 percent. Among the reasons for the drop, according to Gerard Dennison, senior economic analyst with the Maine Department of Labor, are increased employment at several large area businesses, including Sunday River Ski Resort, Mead Corp. in Rumford and Highland Lumber in Dixfield.

Asked about the possible impact of about 500 PNGTS pipeline workers in the area, Dennison said the pipeliners would register a "multiplier effect" through more lodging and food business.

Most of the pipeline workers live out of state and are only staying here temporarily.

The Rumford Labor Market Area is comprised of Rumford, Mexico, Andover, Bethel, Byron, Dixfield, Gilead, Hartford, Lincoln Plantation, Magalloway Plantation, Newry, Hanover, Peru, Roxbury, Upton, Milton, Greenwood, Woodstock, Carthage, North Oxford Unorganized and South Oxford Unorganized.

The percentages translated into numbers of people are as follows: Of a civilian labor force of 10,020, 9,470 were employed in August, and 550 unemployed.

The unemployment rates for all of Oxford County were 5.3 percent in August of 1998, and 6.0 percent in August of 1997. Statewide, the comparative rates were 3.4 percent and 4.3 percent, respectively.

Scholarships

Of those women he later said, "They hung on and didn't give up on me."

"A fair thing"

Project Opportunity scholarships support a broad range of students, from those who aspire to an Ivy League education to those whose interests lie in vocational fields.

Scholarships are awarded, in part, through a point system that recognizes academic achievement, but also gives credit to students who may have lagged in grades early in their high school career but improved as time went on. Extra-curricular achievements are also considered.

O'Brien chose the Telstar fund over his other alma maters because, he said, "I feel my obligation is to the community." He noted that he wanted vocational students to benefit from his donations, and liked the Project Opportunity philosophy. "I think it's a very fair thing," he said. "I thought it was the best place to put (a contribution), to get the biggest bang for the buck."

The program awards almost $20,000 a year in scholarship money and funds to help support educational enrichment activities of students still attending Telstar. Examples include a student who took part in an archaeological dig and others who studied creative writing and math at a Johns Hopkins University summer program.

Ted Davis, principal of Telstar

High School, described how O'Brien's contribution came about. "About a year ago, we got a letter from him asking if we had any type of scholarship program," said

Davis. "I wrote back to him, and the next thing I knew I had a check for $12,500. He's very pro public education."

Named scholars program

O'Brien joins the Otten family as donors who have contributed more than $25,000 to Project Opportunity, which began in the late 1980s.

The project was established by Les Otten.

Last year, the Board of Directors established the Named Scholars Program for contributors who wish to participate.

Beginning with the Telstar Class of 1999, some students receiving scholarships may be designated as O'Brien scholars or Otten Scholars.

There are several other regular donors approaching the $25,000 mark, according to Don Bean, the administrator for the scholarship program.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the program expand," he said, with other names to be added in the near future.

made, but only in areas that would expose the town to greater expenses down the line.

On an initial vote, the budget failed: with Brown voting for it, Bennett against, and Al Barth and Bob Chadbourne abstaining.

The selectmen then amended the original motion to include a condition that further approval be obtained from the board before any of the capital improvement funds in the budget were spent.

The budget then passed unanimously.

Some members of the town Budget Committee (not enough for a quorum) also attended Monday's meeting. In an informal vote, they agreed -- also reluctantly -- to go ahead with the increases.

"I know we have to do it, I know the process of doing it, and I know we can't back out of it," said Punky Davis.

But the Budget Committee members also complained about the lack of accurate financial information when the town undertook the current upgrade project at the treatment plant, about the overly optimistic projections for growth at Bethel Station (which was to have picked up much of the cost of the upgrade), and, above all, about the impact the increases would have on users.

Members of both committees also said they felt the budget should be ready for review much earlier in the year, so that any rate increases that might be required could be spread over all four quarterly bills.

In a related action, the selectmen Monday once again put off a decision on an additional fee request from Wright - Pierce, the engineering firm working for the town on the upgrade project.

reported on a visit he made to Western Maine Academy, a new school for sexually abuse reactive boys located off Route 232. Maxfield said Bies was satisfied with the setup of the school, which currently has two students and six staff members.

Some neighbors of the school have expressed concern about security.

Selectmen also approved articles for the Oct. 20 special Town Meeting.

Driving the meeting is the issue of whether to ban or restrict "jet skis" on town ponds. There are three articles to be considered on the issue:

1) whether to ban the craft entirely; 2) whether to ban them on weekends and federal holidays; and

3) if either article is approved by Woodstock and Greenwood, whether to enter an interlocal agreement on the issue with Greenwood.

Greenwood will vote on the same questions the same evening. The towns share some area ponds.

Voters will also consider whether to install a street light at the intersection of Routes 26 and 232, at the suggestion of constable Jim Miclon; whether to accept about a third of an acre of property in front of the library (offered by Fran Head); and whether to put up for sale a parcel of land on Railroad Street.

Selectmen Tuesday also changed the award of the contract to build the addition to the Whitman Memorial Library, after receiving further information about the original, tentatively approved bid.

Robert Evans had submitted a bid of $49,200, but it was later found the cost for windows had not been included. Because selectmen could not accept a modified bid, the job was then given to Tim Poland Carpentry and Perry Ryerson Building Construction for a cost of $72,655.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Thelma Remington visited Virginia Walker in Waldoboro several days last week.

Arlene Brown of Salem, N.H., was unintentionally omitted from the Gould Academy 50th class reunion gathering last week.

Residents of Evergreen Road, a deadend street, wonder why large RVs are finding themselves in a dooryard with no place to turn around.

Luckily Julia Brown's car wasn't in the drive when a big section of the Maple tree crashed right where the car usually sat.

JoAnn and Bill Flagin of Hendersonville, N.C. visited her mother, Eva Perry, this past week.

Earlton and Mary Paine attended Donald M. Christie's funeral service on Saturday afternoon at the Gray Congregational Church. Elizabeth Bane and Geraldine Howe accompanied them. Also attending from Bethel were John and Jan Todd. Kaye Eames and Carolyn Wight Harrison attended from Portland and Michelle Ordway were there from Bridgton.

Orlando and Judy Fraser of Vidalia, Fla., and Gwen and Lowell O'Steen of Lake City, Fla., have been visiting with Doris and Alan Fraser. They attended church services in Albany Sunday morning and were on their way to Fryeburg Fair as of Monday morning and returning to Florida on Wednesday.

Jerry and Susan Freeman of Shaplesburg, Ga., have been visiting family and friends in town, and attended the delicious Methodist Church supper Saturday night and church on Sunday morning. Jerry's mother, Marjorie Menzies, was with them. Of course they, too, were anxiously anticipating attending the "Big Fair" on Monday.

George and Danna Nickerson and Arlene G. Brown were in Windham a week ago to celebrate Kurt's birthday. Kate Nickerson joined them from college.

Mrs. Lillian Conant is presently employed at the Maine Veterans Home in South Paris.

The Roger Conant family are excitedly awaiting the arrival this week of Dan and Jeannine Conant Rand and two and one-half-months old Joshua Daniel Rand from Richmond, Va. Joshua was born on July 25, 1998. They will be visiting family and friends for a week or more.

Richard and Lorrie Hoeh of West Bethel Flat Road attended Lorrie's 46th high school class reunion in Cleveland, Ohio, on Sept. 19 and 20 and Dick's 50th class reunion in Needham, Mass., on Sept. 26 and 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lawthers will be visiting with her sister and GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Putnam celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with family and friends Sept. 18 at their Woodstock home. They were married Aug. 21, 1948 in Great Barrington, Mass. Among the 58 people attending the September gathering were the Putnam's son Randy and his wife, Susan, of Aurora, Colo., their son Nat of Gorham, N.H., their daughter, Sarah Klimkowski, her husband, Joe, and their three children, Elizabeth, Victoria and Daniel, all of Springfield, Va., and their German son (a former exchange student) Peter Voersmann and his wife, Lore, of Voll Buttel, Germany. Another son, Jeff, of La Grande, Oregon, a professor at Eastern Oregon University, was unable to attend. Other friends and family traveled from New York, Massachusetts and New Hampshire to take part in the celebration.

husband, Mary and Bud Paine, this week.

Dick and Cindy Haines are sporting a new mobile home on their resident lot on Mill Hill. This lot was formerly the Alton and Erwin Hutchinson property which was sold to the Haines by Irene Hutchinson.

Mary Keniston was surprised to observe a huge bull moose on their back lot beyond the garden last Thursday afternoon. The moose had come over from the l'Auberge, across the back lawn through Lefty's carefully rototilled garden and was trying to jump the fence on to the golf course. People playing golf freaked him, so he went down over the bank through the bushes and trees on the lot below. Lefty didn't get out of the house in time to see him, but has left his tracks in the garden. Early evening when he and our dog, Crissy, took their usual walk, he found "Mr. Moose's" tracks as he crossed left across old number one green, down over the bank, across the brook and Route 5, up through Jean Owen's driveway and away into the woods. This story doesn't quite compare to Bob and Ginny's fishing trip.

Dewaine and Sarah Craig were on vacation July 23 through Aug. 11, visiting with sons, Adam in Seattle, Wash., and Chris and Dawn and two children in Everett, Wash., for three weeks. They enjoyed one week on Ocean Shores on the Pacific and five days in Index, Wash., off Route 2.

This weekend, Sarah Craig and daughter Beth made one of their occasional trips to Blue Hill, returning Sunday evening.

Sympathy is extended to Arlan Jodrey and family and his sister, Barbara Jodrey Merrill and family in the sudden death of her husband, Carl Merrill, last weekend while he was racing in Arizona.

Robert Cope and Jane Sturtevant of Salt Lake City, Utah, were recent visitors at the home of Bob and Polly Davis. Rob graduated from Gould Academy with the Class of 1970.

Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings

Ninety or more attended services at Bethel Alliance Church on Sept. 27. It was a Friend Day. After the service a social hour was held and a lot went to that. Pastor Rick's message was, "Friendship on the Highest Plains." As always there was a lot of singing, including "How Great Thou Art" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

Pastor Rick sang a lovely hymn on Thursday evening. The ladies trio, Nancy Hansen, Nancy Fox and Andrea Bennett had special music.

Some of us watched the fireworks on Thursday evening. No one knew that there were to be any fireworks until we heard the first ones, or no doubt more would have watched. They certainly were just great.

Hello, Joyce, Nathan, Ethan and Jed. How is the weather in New Jersey? We finally got some rain, but need a lot more.

John Kallis visited me recently and we played cribbage.

Friend Day was a great success, but do not wait for a special invitation to come to Bethel Alliance Church -- you are welcome any time. And once you have found your way, I think that you will come again. Folks are so friendly there.

I bet the purple mailbox is pretty and at least it will not rust for a while. When I first started living on an R.F.D. in 1942 and also out on what was then called a Star Route (now called HCR), the mailboxes had to be painted white or aluminum and have the person's name on the box in black letters and on both sides. The post had to be painted white or aluminum. The mailbox had to be hitched solid to a post that was solid in the ground and the post of a certain height so it would be easy for the carrier to deliver mail. But as the years went by and there were so many different vehicles of different heights and no telling what the carrier would have for a vehicle, this became impossible to always have them the right height. Then later boxes were not kept as solid on the post and some were not painted and just rusted.

I do not think I would want to eat any of Fred's soup. But I do recall someone telling me that the first chicken they ever baked they did not purchase at the store and when he had it all roasted and ready to carve and eat he cut into the crop that was still in there.

Thanks to Joyce for getting my coffee and taking it to the table at the time after church, also for taking my plate of goodies there. Thanks to Norman for finding me a place to sit at a table where I could really enjoy my lunch. At my age my hands are not as steady as they were, or my legs either, and it bothers a lot to hold things on my lap.

A thank you to all of the fine folks that provide me with rides so I can attend church and the potluck suppers they have there.

K C Denton and Jean Palanza were at the Bethel House Monday of last week.

Judy Gagne and Tom and Gayle Russell were recent guests of Irene Russell.

Vada Glover was up Tuesday of last week and we played cribbage, and at 909 games I am one ahead.

Vada and I also went to Youllys in Canton with Charlotte Cole, Robert Cole and Sylvia Clark. But we played cribbage before we left and after we got back. Youllys is a great place to eat. They offer a very good lot of seafood but a lot of other things, too, as well as daily specials. They are open seven days a week.

The weatherman of today is always saying it is going to be "blustery" if the wind is going to blow. I think it has to have snow in the air to be blustery, and I hope we do not see that for a while yet.

Robert and Charlotte Cole went to Pinhook to a sing-along recently.

Eva Lane is a surgical patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

September rainfall was 2.6 inches and from May through Sept. 1 it was 28.6 inches.

Dana and Millie Jackson went to Upton to visit Bill and Debbie Eldridge on Sept. 28. They didn't think the leaves were as bright down that way. They saw three deer on their lawn about 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 4.

Peter Haines saw 25 Canada geese on the interval and creek area on Oct. 4.

Dori Hallman and children, Heather and Whitney, of Durham visited Arlene Harrington on Oct. 4.

Ruby Coolidge attended Danielle Bernier's wedding in Upton on Oct. 3.

Danielle Bernier married Ivan Roberts on Oct. 3 at the Bernier Homestead in Upton. Ryan and Sheila Bernier of South Carolina, Jerry Bernier of Castine, Mike and Nancy Antonelli of Hudson, N.Y., Larry and Geneva Pelletier of Auburn, N.H., came from Oct. 2 to 4. Chad and Nikki Pelletier of New Hampshire also came. About 100 people attended the wedding.

Stanley Walker, Steve Cross, Michael Cross, and Donny Walker went up-country on Oct. 2 to be part of the moose hunt. They hoped to get their moose on opening day.

The leaves are getting bright now around here. They didn't seem as bright on the way to Fryeburg.

Rudi Honkala is at Market Square Nursing Home for physical therapy before surgery. He had suffered a stroke on Aug. 18. He would enjoy visitors.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

My nephew, Carl Toti of Pascoag, R.I., spent a short time with me here in North Newry and had the pleasure of meeting a few of my friends -- Sylvia Gray, Nancy Wight and Karlene Bachelder. We didn't have time to meet more, maybe next time?

The moose hunting season is open this week. Poor moose, with poor eyesight will stand there and get shot. Is that sportsmanship? I hope the meat will be put to good use.

The Newry Mothers Club will meet Oct. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Building.

Pat Greig will celebrate her birthday this week with her family and friends. Many happy returns to you, Pat, we wish you the best.

WE'VE ADDED TO OUR FAMILY... ...TO TAKE BETTER CARE OF YOURS.

The world-class medical staff at Western Maine Family Practice is proud to announce the arrival of two new physicians:
Anthony Zimmerman, MD and Laura Jett, MD.

With a medical degree from the University of Basel, Switzerland, and an internship and residency at the Medical University of South Carolina at Charleston, you could say Anthony Zimmerman has come a long way to serve the families of Western Maine. And so has Laura Jett, who received her medical degree from the Ohio State University College of Medicine in Columbus, Ohio, where she also completed her family practice residency.

We're delighted to have Tony and Laura join our family here at Western Maine Family Practice. Along with Allan Reis, MD and Kenneth Bradshaw, DO and our professional support staff, they are a part of a dynamic, comprehensive, and technically advanced health care network.

So whatever your family's health care needs — from long-term care or annual check-ups to minor surgical procedures — there's a Western Maine Health physician with just the right expertise. Someone like Anthony Zimmerman or Laura Jett. Because your family deserves nothing less than the best.

Exceptional care...Exceptionally close to home.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. Here it is October already. Have all you people in Stoneham got your new numbers on your house and mailbox? We have and have gotten mail to the new address of 483 Maine Street, Stoneham. It is still East Stoneham to me though, as it will be to many others. I suppose the numbers are a good idea for the rescue personnel.

Well, on Thursday, Sept. 24, the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met at the home of Eleanor Smith at Waterford Acres with seven members present. Gail Butterfield now has dual membership with Tent 8 (Norway) and Tent 19 (Stoneham). Welcome to our Tent, Gail. Heidi Shugars won the mystery prize.

Plans were discussed for the October inspection meeting and supper to be held with Bryant Pond Tent on Monday, Oct. 12.

A nice lunch was served after the meeting by Ellie Smith and members present. The November meeting will be held at Eleanor Smith's home on Nov. 19. The Daughters will again be selling hot cocoa, coffee, cookies and brownies at the annual Christmas Parade by Pike's Pond.

Store in Norway in November. Well, even the veterinarian's dog has to have special attention sometimes. Terry Nichols-Nunes' little "Maggie" had to have back surgery in Portland on Sept. 22 and was up walking on Sept. 24. They can do miracles on dogs just like on us humans, can't they.

Church services will be held in Stoneham for the month of October. The time is 10 to 11 a.m., with coffee after in the vestry. You know -- everyone is welcome. Our minister and husband are on two weeks' vacation now but will be back before you know it. The Rev. Marilyn Wilcox-Cowling led worship on Sunday, Sept. 27, and the Rev. Richard Ryder will lead worship on Sunday, Oct. 4. Church Sunday School starts on Oct. 18 at 9:15 a.m. in Stoneham. Call the parsonage phone (928-2121) if further information is needed.

Albert and Eleanor Nelson went to the Nelson camp at Big Brook, Wilson's Mills this past weekend, and the foliage was just beautiful. I believe it was at its peak there, and in looking across the mountains it couldn't have been prettier. We didn't see any animals again this time, not even a chipmunk, but did hear the pesky squirrel half the night. Troy Nelson and Kevin Allen called on us there and had supper with us. They also called on Bob Millett and Eddie Millett at the Maxfields' camp, who had been fishing.

On Sept. 29, the Stoneham Volunteer firemen met at the Fire Station with 17 members present. Before the meeting, they all went up to Keewaydin Lake with the fire trucks to test out the new fire hydrant there. Another new member was taken in at this meeting. That is good.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Pearl Bowman celebrated her 60th birthday last week with a surprise party given by her two children, Laurie and Wesley Cox. The party was attended by her family members and many friends. Hope you have many more, Pearl.

Rosalie Poland is in the hospital in Portland having knee replacement surgery. She'll be there for a few days. We wish her speedy recovery. Betty Appleby, who lives in California, turned 100 years young this past month. Betty was a teacher at Forestdale School in South Woodstock for several years. A card was taken around for some of her former students to sign and a bouquet of flowers was sent to her. They said she was very pleased and surprised. I was one of her students many years ago.

I called my sister, Dotte Critser, on her birthday Sept. 30. Tommy Poland also called her to wish her a happy day. Dotte lives in Tempe, Ariz., and told me that the temperature was in the 90s when I called, "quite cool," she said.

Recently, Rosalie Poland and Claribel Poland took a trip to Gorham, N.H. Claribel and Buster lived there many years ago when Buster worked on the railroad. They went by the places where they used to live with Claribel's family. They had a nice time, as it was a beautiful day.

Joan and Phelps Poland spent a day last week looking after their great-grandson, Brandon, in the town of Old Orchard Beach.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that some folks make you feel at home. Others make you wish you were."

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

The weather has chilled down seasonably this week with wind, rain, sunshine and an occasional thunderstorm. Upton lost power three times one day early in the week. We are getting a little fed up with putting frost covers on the flowers. It has paid off though, because the impatiens and begonias are still in good bloom as of Oct. 4.

Penny and Joe Bernier have hosted yet another wedding at their farm on Back Street. The bride was Danielle Bernier, daughter of Flossie and Andrew Bernier. The groom was Ivan Roberts, son of Freda Roberts. It was a lovely wedding ceremony performed by the bride's great-uncle, the Rev. Edgar Bailey. The bridal party, consisting of Danielle, her mother, grandmother and her attendants arrived at the farm in a limousine. Although it was a sunny day, the wind was quite brisk. The peak fall foliage in the surrounding area made for a gorgeous backdrop. There were approximately 100 guests in attendance. Following the wedding reception, the happy couple left for a honeymoon at Saddleback Inn in Rangeley.

On Tuesday, the Wixoms, Stanczyks, and the LeComtes headed over Dixville Notch to the Balsams for breakfast. You haven't lived till you have sampled the breakfast buffet under the supervision of Executive Chef Phil Learned. Dixville Notch was ablaze with color. The leaf peepers were out in force to enjoy the annual event.

Hunting season has arrived. Buster Williamson reports that the partridge are quite spooky. There have been some duck hunters in the cove, but most of the ducks have left the area. A flock of geese went overhead this morning. There is a full moon and I'm sure this is a "built in device" in their homing instinct. It was a bittersweet moment musing on nature's annual plan.

Speaking of annual events, the bear hunters have been up and down Mill Road looking for their dogs.

The bird of the week was a green wing teal spotted in Peasly Cove.

Elsie Fuller saw a large bull moose on her property early in the week. I guess he was hiding out from the moose hunters.

On Sunday, Elsie went for a plane ride over the North Country. She enjoyed it very much and said the colors were beautiful. Jeff Scribner was her pilot.

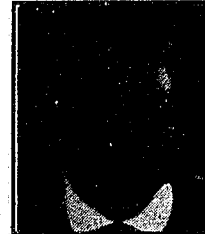

The Bell Tower Fund received two more sponsors this week. Robert and Violet Swain of East Andover donated in memory of Robert's parents, Robert and Lucie Morse Swain. They were the first couple married in the Upton Union Church in 1913. The second donors were Everett and Barbara Blake of Berlin, N.H. Their gift was in memory of Phoebe and Lysander Fuller. We thank them for their generosity. I have been told that some people who wish to donate do not know where to send it. The address is: The

AUTUMN JEEP WASH

Each Fall the Newry Fire Department has a jeep wash for beginner jeeps. This year the department washed more than 100 jeeps, from New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and Maine. The wash was held Friday and Saturday evenings at the Newry Fire Department on the Sunday River side behind the fire station.

Lillian Hamby of Seattle, Wash., was the guest of Phyllis Young last Tuesday through Friday. While here they had lunch at Maurice's with Zilpha DiArizio, Pauline Smith and Faye Holt, all former classmates. Lillian also visited friends in the area.

Forward Fellowship met Monday night with Eleanor Inman at Maplewood in Greenwood City with 11 present. A potluck supper preceded the meeting. It was reported that sales exceeded $128 at the sale at Trap Corner last Saturday. Good job girls -- Martha Day, Lempi Cyr, Eleanor Inman, Cynthia Lamb and Miriam Inman (the sales girls).

Plans are being made for the upcoming Fall Sale and the famous chicken pie supper. The Fall Sale will be on Nov. 14. The chicken pie supper is always the Thursday before Thanksgiving (it will be the 92nd annual). The next meeting will be on Oct. 26 at Goodwill Hall with a 6 p.m. potluck supper.

Last Sunday, Richard Werner from Copake, N.Y., spent the day with us. We enjoyed his visit.

Mason Township

When we returned from our little vacation, we noted that fall is here for sure: the leaves are turning, the garden has frozen, the geese are migrating, and the surest sign of all -- those 4x4 pickups with bear dog cages in back are cruising up and down the roads here. Also, the Rupert Grover house is nearing completion, although it seems progress has been painfully slow of late. The upstairs level is done, complete with wallpaper and wall-to-wall carpeting. The finishers are now installing hardwood floors and other finishing touches on the ground level, and full-time power is available, if you consider CMP power full-time. The grounds finishers are busy with back-hill and dozer preparing for those stone retaining walls. It is a real work of art, with that radiant white siding. Rupert and Ina are getting anxious to be moved in. The initial contract was for them to be in by the first of August.

Last Saturday, I remembered another hunting story, this one complete with a dog, because everybody loves a dog story. When I was 10 or 12, I got a new puppy, a black one about the size of a collie, with curly black hair everywhere except for a small white stripe on his chest. This dog did everything with me, hiking, fishing, wrestling and bird hunting through my high school years. I didn't know anything about training a hunting dog, but I managed to get Prince to stay by me until I got to a place where I hoped to flush out a partridge, or two. Then I could send him into the likely looking spot, where he would roust the bushes or thick firs and send any birds scurrying. I wasn't very good on the wing shots, but with Prince's help I managed to bring home several more birds than I otherwise would have. He was sorely disappointed if I shot and missed, scurrying around with his nose to the ground until I called him off.

After graduation, I went away to college and the Air Force, leaving Prince with my mother, who went to live with brother Walter, taking Prince with her. Well, Walter didn't have much use for animals, least of all dogs. He and Prince didn't get along, and Walter told me the following story after I returned from my many years in the Service. Prince liked to lie in the middle of the kitchen floor, and if Walter tried to move him, Prince would growl, and Mother would never say anything to the dog, irritating Walter

THE AGNES GRAY AND LEGION MEMORIAL SCHOOLS were pleased to welcome Joanna Backman, director of the Community Education Exchange in SAD17, and several representatives from Shop 'n Save to kick off a two-year business partnership. The partnership is part of a community service project run each year by Shop 'n Save. Many activities are being planned, and a classroom of the month will be featured at the store in Oxford. Students from grade four presented a banner to the guests. Everyone is looking forward to this new partnership. Standing (from left) are: Joanna Backman, John Raymond, manager, Ken Bacon, Bill St. Pierre, Tammy Newell, Bob Minerly, Peter Douchette, Doug Smith, assistant manager, and Cindy Mullen, grade-one teacher; seated: Julia Hutchinson, Kayla Newmeyer, Jennifer Miller, Kevin Severance.

further. (I think she liked that dog almost as much as I did.) One day, Walter went bird hunting, and Prince went with him (I can't remember why Walter took him). Anyway, Walter shot at a partridge and was sure he hit it by the way it fell, but it was apparently alive enough to hide; Walter couldn't find the bird. Then he tried to enlist Prince's help. That dog played dumb and showed no interest in trying to locate the wounded bird. Walter finally gave up and went home, taking Prince. Then, Walter noticed that Prince went out and found the partridge, brought it home and ate it himself.

Greenwood City

One morning recently I was asked if I'd like to go for a ride. Of course I wanted to know where. I was told, "Where the road takes us." So in a short time Ann arrived with her father and mother and we were off.

It was one of those days of flowery, sunshine and blue skies. There were fragrant blooms, dancing shadows, warbling birds, gushing streams, and talking winds, a day of contentment and happiness.

The roadsides were frosted with lace, delicate and still unspoiled by dust. The lace was beautiful adding much to where it grew. Its cobwebby aspect won the title of Queen Ann's Lace.

In Queen Elizabeth's reign, so I have read, ladies wore this in their hair in place of feathers. Can you picture the dejected appearance of a ballroom belle at the close of an evening?

Much of our ride was through forest land, which is always a joy to me.

Goldfinches were many, adding a splash of color to the landscape, and they seemed to find joy in every hour. Their wave-like flight and sweet notes tumbled over spreading pleasantness. Their flock of lemon gold and shiny black, so pretty against green.

Field corners were filled with soft beauty of asters.

We went up hills and down valleys, through small towns, all interesting.

The jewel weed was exquisite hanging horizontal, like jewels from a lady's ear.

Near noon we purchased our lunch, then stopped to eat it at Azis-cobos-Dam. It was a delightful spot by the water and new to one of us.

For some time we beheld our surroundings, musing over the grand wilderness around us. I could not but be impressed with the idea that nature delighted to perform her wonders in the secrecy of solitude.

Our homeward was a delight, too.

We were entertained one morning by three moose across the pond from my house. The next day one swam the pond and visited me in my driveway.

While the moose were here, there were coyotes in the farm fields.

The foliage is fast turning color on my maples now.

State Rep. Robert Cameron, Rumford, has named Paul Billings, Bryant Pond, as his campaign manager for the town of Woodstock. Assisting Mr. Billings for the town are: Roland Lord, Milton Mills, the Rev. Linwood Hanson, Margaret Hall, and Evelyn Bean. Mr. Cameron's District 70 includes the towns of Rumford, Woodstock and Milton Plantation.

I wrote that some young people are now at college. I would like to know how they are doing. I have heard that Michelle McInnis loves her school, Colby College, and is doing very well. Let me know how you are doing so I can print it.

Judith Grover Tent 17, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will hold their meeting on Oct. 12, starting with a 6 p.m. supper. Norway and Stoneham Tents will join them for a joint inspection.

W.H.S. alumni will meet at 7 p.m. on Oct. 13, at the home of Alice Hoyt to plan the Senior Citizens' dinner in November. There will be a tasting party.

By now Grandparents' Day at school is over. I do hope a lot of you grandparents attended. I thank Lisa and Kim Laura for giving me a school paper so I can keep up on the school news. Remember to save your cereal box tops and Campbell labels for the school, also flip tops on cans.

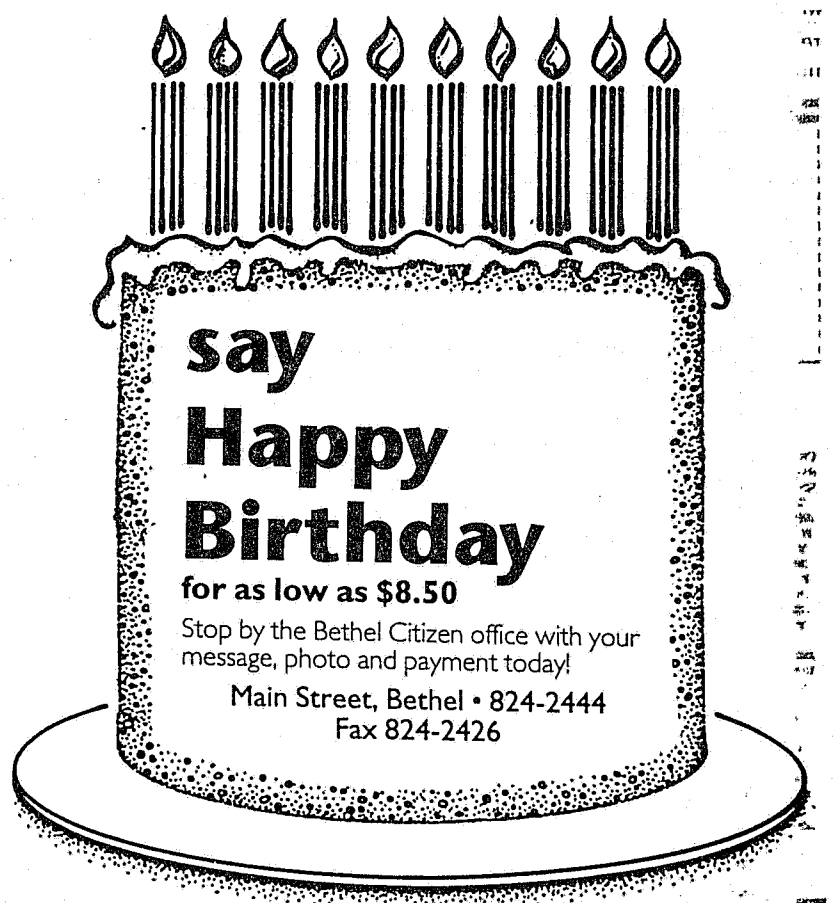

Thirty-four Senior Citizens went out to dinner at the Bull Ring Steakhouse on Thursday -- very nice dinner.

Woodstock Historical Society will meet on Saturday, Oct. 10 at 7 p.m.

The Historical Society programs and activities are extremely worthwhile. It benefits us all. The museum is an outstanding facility. It is one of the best around. The Hathaway family has given the society a genealogy.

OCT 8 1998

This week at the

Moses Mason House

The annual "What's It" meeting was held on Oct. 1 with a number of unusual items from the past brought in by those attending. Many guesses were made and theories presented, but sometimes one is never certain of the facts in relation to a particular artifact.

After this portion of the meeting, Society Curator of Collections discussed the current exhibit in the meeting room on early 20th century Maine life and showed the video which highlights many of the themes presented in the exhibit.

During the business portion of the meeting, president Walter Hatch reminded those attending that the next meeting would be held on Nov. 5 with Herb Adams speaking on "Greenwood in the Forties: Addison E. Verrill and his World." Verrill was a Greenwood native who went on to become a leading scientist at Yale. The "Gift of the Month" was announced as a book, "Summer 200: 1798-1998" from Richard and Joan Ford of Concord, Mass.

Susan Herlihy, chair of the Capital Campaign Committee, announced that the society is now close to raising $300,000 in cash, stock, gifts, pledges, and challenges. Mrs. Herlihy also called attention to the Leaf Symphony Quilt raffle to benefit the capital campaign. Following the program, Persis Post and her committee served refreshments, which included cider and squares.

The 1998 Bethel Historical Society Annual Fund campaign has raised nearly $9,000 from 266 contributors to date. Among the most recent donors: Will and Mary Leland, Berkeley Heights, N.J.; Arthur and Betty Smith, Bethel; Nancy C. Babcock, Bethel; Colleen F. Boyd, West Bethel; Catherine Canavan, Cool, Calif.; Florence Hastings, Bethel; Burton Mills, Bethel, in memory of Clayton and Bertha Mills and Angel and Clayton Mills Jr.; Herbert H. Morton III, Andover, Mass.; Jane Sullivan, Portland; Ellen and Stephen Little, Dover, Mass.; Claudia E. Mason Chicklas, Ware, Mass.; Exxon Corporation, Houston, Texas. Much appreciation is expressed to all of the above for their generosity. Those wishing to make a tax-deductible donation to the society in memory of or honor of someone special should send it PO Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217.

Apple Festival to be held Oct. 10
Susan Herlihy, chair of the Bethel Historical Society Capital Campaign, announced recently that the society will sponsor an apple festival, which will include a wide variety of activities relating to apples, beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 10. There will be an apple baked goods sale, an apple throw, apple gifts, apple cider pressing demonstration, dried apple roll demonstrations and much more. At 4:30 p.m., there will be an "Apple-tude" Adjustment Hour in the meeting room to which everyone is invited to attend.

Volunteers are needed to donate baked apple goods for the food sale. Anyone wishing to donate is asked to call Mrs. Herlihy at 824-3932 or Lois Kilfoy 824-2043.

From the

Jackson-Silver Post/Aux

The young people who attended Boys and Girls State last June were honored at the annual banquet on Thursday, Oct. 1. Heather Best, Heather Borst and Jamie Johnson attended for a week at Husson College in Bangor and Neil Thurlow spent his week at the University of Southern Maine. In giving reports on their week, they all expressed having had a little apprehension as they arrived at their sessions, but were soon at ease, made lots of friends and learned a lot.

In this mock-government program, each student was assigned to a floor in the dormitory, which then became their town for a week. None of them were in the same town as their classmates. Each was also assigned to one of three political parties. As the week progressed, they took part in town government with town meetings, etc., then county government and finally to the state level where Heather Best ran for the House of Representatives and was elected. Jamie Johnson was elected to the state Senate. They then participated in Legislative sessions, considering and voting on various bills.

It was not all work and study. They also took part in sports, talent contests, and a band and chorus were formed, which performed at the graduation on the final night. All were glad to have had the opportunity to attend this program.

The director of Girls State, Nora Thombs, and her assistant, Carolee Caldwell, also attended the banquet and said that they had both been Girls State delegates some years ago. Also at the head table with them were the Second District president, Evanna Davis, and Department president, Lois Worcester.

Besides the Boys State delegate, Neil Thurlow, the Post had as guest William "Chick" Cicciotti, the Department adjutant. The Department commander, Larry Dearborn, had been expected but met with an emergency and was unable to attend.

In the meeting which followed the dinner, some of the other programs of the Auxiliary were discussed. Among these was announcement that there will be a drive during October to collect used or pre-owned video games -- Nintendo, Super Nintendo, Sega Genesis, Sega Saturn, Sony Playstation and Nintendo 64. Each one collected will result in an approximate $3.50 to the Children's Miracle Network. If anyone has these games they are willing to donate, they may be left at the Locke Mills Legion Hall before Oct. 18 or members would be happy to collect them and see that they are delivered.

The Auxiliary's next public supper and dance will be on Oct. 13 at 5:30 p.m. A harvest supper will be served, followed by dancing to the music of the Richard Felt Band.

Members of the Post and Auxiliary were happy to note that Herb and Mary Lyon would be celebrating their 55th anniversary on Saturday, Oct. 3.

Because of a benefit supper taking place at the Legion Hall on Oct. 15, the next regular meetings of the Post and Unit will be on Oct. 22 at 7 p.m., instead of the usual third Thursday of the month. Oxford County Council will meet at 7:30 on Oct. 20 at the Buckfield Post.

From the

Mahoosuc Arts Council

The annual phonathon for the Mahoosuc Arts Council will take place on the evenings of Oct. 20, 21, and 22. This year's annual giving goal is $7,000 and is the council's major fundraising event.

Volunteers will be calling individuals to ask for gifts, which will help the council to continue bringing quality programs in the arts to the SAD44 schools and communities. This year's programming will include eight community shows, 18 in-school assemblies and a week-long residency for elementary students. The residency will feature the Missoula Children's Theatre and is co-sponsored with the Crescent Park PTA.

Local support from community members of Andover, Greenwood, Newry, Woodstock and Bethel is vital to the existence of the council. It also increases the council's opportunities of receiving funding from foundations and corporations who are looking to sponsor the efforts of community based organizations like Mahoosuc Arts.

Many thanks to all the businesses who supported this effort.

From the

Telstar Alumni Association

Hardy golfers braved the cold autumn winds on Saturday, Oct. 3, to participate in the Telstar Alumni Association Golf Classic at the Bethel Inn and Country Club. This event was the first in what the association plans as an annual activity to fund a scholarship program to benefit the alumni of Telstar Regional High School.

Prizes were awarded in the mixed scramble tournament format to all members of the three teams with the best gross scores by Bethel Inn and Country Club Golf Pro Jason Hurd and tournament co-chairs Bonnie Mills Marshall '71, and Gayle Packard Russell '73. First-place winners at three under par were Chuck Johnson, Telstar Golf Team; Doug Kurtz and Bonnie Marshall. Second-place honors went to Nick Colletti, Linda James Cooper '85, Barbara James, and Ernest Packard, with an even par score. Scoring one over par were the third-place team members of Josh Eichenberger and Dan Stevens, Telstar Golf Team, Beverly Packard and Dave Weston.

Bethel Inn and Country Club Pro Hurd presented special awards from the Bethel Inn Golf Shop and Viewer's Choice Video to Josh Eichenberger, Chuck Johnson and Dan Stevens, members of the Telstar Fall 1998 Golf Team, who participated in the tournament.

Co-chairs Bonnie Marshall and Gayle Russell both expressed appreciation to Bethel area businesses and organizations including the Bethel Inn and Country Club, Books 'n Things, Brooks Bros., Jackson-Silver Post 68, Kendall Insurance, Key Bank, Pat's Pizza, Preb's Pharmacies, and Viewer's Choice Video. "The contributions of these sponsors made it possible for current Telstar students who are on the golf team to experience playing in a tournament with golfers of all ages who are members, family and friends of the Telstar Alumni Association," Ms. Russell stated.

High School Varsity Field Hockey

Dirigo 1, Telstar 0; Oct. 5—Goalkeeper Emily Phillips made 16 saves as the Rebels lost to Dirigo. "Emily made some outstanding saves," said coach Gail Wight. "The only thing missing was a score. The team played very well as a whole. They just couldn't put it in the net."

Telstar 2, Boothbay 0; Oct. 2—Mary Ann Lowe and Stephanie Vaughan each scored a goal as Telstar defeated Boothbay. Malinda Gilbert and Mandy Berry had assists. Goalkeeper Emily Phillips made three saves. "We had a strong offense that didn't give up," said coach Gail Wight. "We shot constantly (53 shots on goal) but a lot of the shots were directly at the goalie."

Telstar 5, Livermore Falls 1; Sept. 30—Malinda Gilbert scored two goals and Marianne Nadeau, Mandy Berry and Jamie Johnson each had one as Telstar defeated Livermore Falls. Mary Ann Lowe and Erin Riley had assists. Goalkeeper Emily Phillips had 12 saves. "We played a strong offensive game -- everyone was working together," said coach Gail Wight.

Proctor 1, Gould 0; Oct. 3—Although Gould dominated the second half of the game and allowed only two shots on goal while taking 16 shots and 12 corners, they struggled to put the ball in the goal against the strong Proctor defense, and Proctor's single goal was enough to hand Gould their first defeat of the season.

J.V. Field Hockey

Telstar 2, Livermore Falls 0; Sept. 30—Mariah Seames and Nikki Roberts each scored in a Telstar win over Livermore Falls. Caroline Raymond had an assist. Goalkeeper Maegan Gaudreau had one save. "Great defensive plays by Katie Wight, Kim Tibbetts and Gail Aloisio," said coach Gail Wight. "Teamwork was the key to victory."

High School Varsity Soccer

Mountain Valley 2, Telstar 0; Oct. 5—Rebel goalkeeper Bob Bean had 13 saves in a loss to Mountain Valley.

Hebron 2, Gould 1; Sept. 30—Justin Hall scored Gould's only goal in a loss at home against Hebron Academy. The loss evened Gould's season record to 2-2. According to Coach Marc Small, "Our problem continues to be finishing. We dominate play but just can't put the ball in the net."

Kents Hill 3, Gould 1; Oct. 3—Despite a good team effort, Gould's scoring woes continued as Nate Fisher picked up the team's only goal in a loss at Kents Hill School, dropping their season record to 2-3.

Men's J.V. Soccer

Gould 6, Kents Hill 0; Oct. 3—Gould's J.V. team continued their winning ways, defeating Kents Hill on Saturday. Emmett Donovan and Josh Ferguson each scored twice for Gould, with Josh Gray and Brian Broderick picking up the remaining two goals. Kevin Hanian had two assists in the game and goalie Angus Graham notched his third shutout of the season.

CONSTRUCTION OF AN ADDITION TO POPLAR TAVERN IN NEWRY is underway in this 1895 photo. The wooden bridge in the foreground spans Bear River, where on the other side an elaborate Queen Ann-style gazebo once stood. This is but one of thousands owned by the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds for its proposed Center for Local and Regional History on Broad Street, which will also provide for improved storage and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to exhibits, educational activities, research, traditional crafts, and museum store operations. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or 1-800-824-2910 or use the e-mail address (history@bdc.bethel.me.us) or visit the society's web site.

NOTICE

OPERATION OF 4X4 VEHICLES ALONG PIPELINE RIGHT OF WAY

Portland Pipe Line Corporation owns three pipelines that transport crude oil and natural gas between Portland, Maine and the Province of Quebec. A portion of the pipelines is buried in a common right of way that traverses the State of Maine. The pipelines, which operate at high pressures, are protected by an exterior coating material and an impressed current cathodic protection system to protect the pipelines from external corrosion. In recent years we have encountered an occasional, but very serious, problem with 4x4 vehicles entering the right of way without obtaining permission from the landowners and driving the vehicles through muddy & wet areas. These vehicles have severely damaged short sections of the pipeline right of way and the underground Pipeline facilities. The damage that has been done by the vehicles could potentially cause a pipeline leak and jeopardize the safety of people in the surrounding area and damage the environment.

The pipeline right of way, which is identified by signs, is leased from landowners along the pipeline route. Our agreement with the landowners allows the landowner to utilize the property for uses that are compatible with the safe operation of the pipeline. The agreement precludes constructing permanent structures, paved parallel roads, unauthorized digging, logging or heavy machinery traffic that could damage the pipeline, its protective coating, or the cathodic protection system. Driving OFF-ROAD vehicles through wet or muddy areas of the pipeline right of way could damage the pipeline facilities and cannot be permitted.

The dirt lane roads that exist on much of the right of way are located on private property that is utilized by the landowner and the Pipe Line for local access. Driving on these dirt lanes without permission constitutes trespassing.

Federal regulations (DOT 49-CFR-192/195) require pipeline personnel to complete aerial and ground patrols to verify the integrity of the pipelines and to maintain the condition of the right of way in case access is required for maintenance repairs, to respond to an emergency situation, and to ensure the safe operation of the facilities.

This matter has been reviewed with the Maine State Police, and future incidents of unauthorized vehicles travelling the right of way and jeopardizing the safety of the pipeline will be reported to the Maine State Police for enforcement action.

Portland Pipe Line Corporation believes these incidents were not intended to be malicious and hopes that this advertisement will inform people of the danger involved in driving 4x4 vehicles on the pipeline right of way.

Please call PORTLAND PIPE LINE CORPORATION COLLECT at 207-767-3231 or the MAINE STATE POLICE at 1-800-482-0730 to report any incidents.

RONALD H. KEDDY

Ronald Hyson Keddy, 89, died on Sept. 14, 1998, in Madona Manor Nursing Home in North Attleboro, Mass. He was the husband of Eunice (Grant) Keddy.

He was born on Feb. 12, 1909, in Bethel and was a graduate of Gould Academy, where he was the class valedictorian.

Mr. Keddy received his law degree from Suffolk Law School, Boston, Mass., in 1933.

He served during WWII as a member of the Army Air Corps.

Survivors besides his wife are two brothers, Royden of Gorham and Warren of California; and two nieces.

A funeral service was held at the Foley-Hathaway Funeral Home in Attleboro, Mass.

LEROY G. KENNISON

Leroy G. Kennison, 54, of Commerce, Ga., formerly of Florida and South Woodstock, died suddenly and unexpectedly Friday morning, Oct. 2, 1998, at Maine Medical Center, Portland.

Born at Rumford on Aug. 12, 1944, the son of Kenneth and Theresa Patrie Kennison, he attended Woodstock schools and was a resident of that community for many years prior to moving to Florida.

Mr. Kennison was a U.S. Army veteran and served in Germany during the early 1960s. He was a self-employed woodsman for a number of years in the Woodstock area, and most recently was employed as a heavy equipment operator in Georgia and Florida. Prior to that he was a coast-to-coast driver for the Old Dominion Line.

Survivors include one daughter, Lindsey, and one son, Matthew, both of Ill., Ga.; one stepdaughter, Roberta Olson of West Paris; a stepson, Kevin Smith of West Paris; five sisters, Nancy Haines of Greenwood, Loretta Crockett of Auburn, Anna Buck of Bethel, Helen Moore of Bryant Pond, and Avis Gunther of Rumford; eight brothers, Kenneth ("Jamie") and Peter Sr., both of West Paris, David Sr. and Herbert, both of North Norway, Erwin ("Dooley") of South Paris, Ralph of Peru, Arnold of South Woodstock, and Jeffrey of Sumner; many nieces and nephews; and his fiancée, Mary Ann Fifield of Locke Mills.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 9, on the Curtis Hill Road, South Woodstock, to which friends are invited. Calling hours are private. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Lung Association of Maine, 128 Sewall Street, Augusta, ME 04330, or a charity of the donor's choice.

CARL EVERETT MERRILL

Carl Everett Merrill, 62, of Ogunquit, died Saturday, Oct. 3, 1998, in Prescott, Ariz., from cardiac arrest while racing his race car in the Prescott Forest Pro Rally.

He was born in Bethel and was a graduate of Gould Academy. Mr. Merrill received his undergraduate degree from Gorham State Teachers College and master's degree from the University of New Hampshire.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuitions, area athletes expenses, disabled individual needs, etc.

If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unneeded items for you. Call Al Barth 824-2931 for pick-up.

Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

Carl moved to Ogunquit in 1960 to teach at Wells High School, where he taught industrial arts and coached two state championship track teams. He also acted as athletic director and assistant football and basketball coach at Wells High. In 1968, he continued his teaching career at Masconomet High School in Boxford, Mass.

In 1963, after the urging of his college buddy "Mac" McDougal, Carl took over a sundries store at Ogunquit Beach, which eventually led to his ownership of Norseman Resorts. Norseman Resorts currently owns and operates three resorts in Ogunquit. Among the many business ventures Carl established were The Molly Trolley Corporation which owned, operated and manufactured motorized trolleys in over 40 cities around the country and Puerto Rico, Many Southern Maine coastal communities now use trolleys. Carl was also owner of River Fishing Inc., a commercial fishing operation, Sea Tern Timeshare condominiums at Moody Beach, The Ogunquit Washbasket, and his latest success, the Worster parking lot, which provided much needed additional parking for the community.

Mr. Merrill was very active in the community. His contributions included past president of Ogunquit Chamber of Commerce, current president of Ogunquit Memorial Library, former Ogunquit Town Selectman, and a member of the Ogunquit Lions Club. He was a member of the Maine and Massachusetts State Teachers Association, National Teachers Association, Maine Fish and Game, Maine Innkeepers Association, and the Ogunquit, Wells and York Chamber of Commerce.

Carl's greatest passion was going as fast as possible whether it was in an airplane, skiing, or driving in his Pro Rally race car. He was a two-time North American Champion in 1993 and 1996 and a one-time Canadian champion. His driving career started in 1989 with his competing in the Voyager Rally. He was responsible for bringing Pro Rally to the state of Maine by establishing the Maine Forest Rally in Rumford, an event which he won in 1995. Prior to his days as a driver, Carl owned closed-track race cars that competed all over the Northeast and helped launch the careers of many drivers, including Rick Cravens and Kevin LePage.

Many would argue that Carl's real passion was not racing, but children and anything dealing with kids. Around Ogunquit Beach, he was known as the "candy man" to those not big enough to look over the candy store counter. Kids from all over would not have their trip to Ogunquit Beach complete unless they ran into the "candy man" who was known for free handouts of all kinds of sugar treats.

Recently, Mr. Merrill was instrumental in the restoration of School House #4 in Moody. The facility is now being used by local Boy Scout Troop C.

Surviving are his wife of 44 years, Barbara J. Merrill of Ogunquit; two daughters, Lorna M. Wentzell of Ogunquit and Martha M. Sheekels of Stuart, Fla.; one son, Scott Carl Merrill of Scottsdale, Ariz.; three grandchildren, Mollie, Hunter and Abigail; one great-grandchild, MacKenzie; two son-in-laws, Mark Wentzell and Mark Sheekels.

A sunrise service was held Thursday, Oct. 8, at 6:15 a.m. on Ogunquit Beach. Because of his great love of kids, The Carl Merrill Children's Foundation has been established to benefit children's causes in Maine. In lieu of flowers, donations may be sent to The Carl Merrill Children's Foundation, c/o Barney, 2398 East Camelback Road #800, Phoenix, AR 85016.

In Loving Memory

Richard G. Hutchins
Murdered October 9, 1992

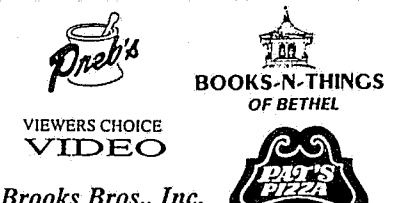

We think of you in silence,
And make no outward show,
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
No time to bid you farewell,
Much to our dismay,
But our faith assures us,
We'll meet again someday.
